NEW YORK FOR CLEVELAND

Gotham Doubles Harrison's Figures Every Time for the Portly Democrat.

Bright Weather All Over the States Causes an Unprecedentedly Heavy Poll.

Canadian Cattle Were Scheduled to Please the Intelligent Bucolics.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—2:30—Election districts out of 1137 give Cleveland 29,506; Harrison 17,397. On a basis of 220 election districts heard from in this city, Cleveland's majority will be about 60,000. Two hundred and forty election districts out of 1137, give Cleveland 32,592; Harrison, 19,097. Three hundred election districts out of 1137, give Cleveland 41,541; Harrison, 24,679.

Three hundred and seventy election districts give Cleveland 52,473, Harrison 29,313.

Not a Popular Measure.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—The force bill was objected to in the fifth ward this morning, and four arrests were made. The clerk of the superior court is one of the prisoners, and his arrest caused great indignation. Other arrests were made in other districts, but the prisoners were at once bailed out. More than half the city vote was polled at 11 o'clock. Indications are in favor of the polling of the heaviest vote in Baltimore's history.

Calm as a Sunday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Superintendent Byrnes was in receipt of news from all election districts as early as 10 o'clock, and he said the reports showed "Sunday-like quietness." Headquarters is swarming with police this morning. No person can recall an election day when so many police were quartered about the building. They are ready to enforce order. In Brooklyn the election is passing off quietly; the early vote was unusually large and a heavy vote is expected. On Staten Island everything was moving smoothly and a large vote is being polled.

Snow in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 8.—The weather is quite cold to-day. It is snowing a little, with about two and a half inches on the ground. Nevertheless a heavy vote is expected to be polled.

Albany Interested.

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 8.—The day is perfect. Crowds are waiting at all the polling places ready to vote, and an enormous vote has been already polled. U. S. Senator Hill cast his vote in the ninth ward. Quiet prevails up to this hour, 10:30 a.m.

A Democratic Nest.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 8.—This district will give 1,000 majority for Cleveland, as against 230 in 1888.

Slept on Duty.

GREENVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 8.—A southbound passenger train on the Mackinaw railroad telescoped a north-bound gravel train yesterday evening about one mile south of this city. The engine pulling the gravel train ran out of coal, cut loose and ran into town and coaled. While being turned it jumped the track and was unable to get back to the train. John Dougherty, brakeman of the gravel train, fell asleep in the caboose instead of going back and flagging the passenger train, which was nearly due. The passenger came along at the rate of forty miles an hour and the gravel train was not seen in time to stop. The passenger train dashed through the caboose where the brakeman was sleeping, and on through, telescoping five loaded cars. It then turned over and rolled down a steep embankment and lies one-third buried in the mud. C. M. Huff, engineer, and E. Conway, fireman of passenger, both jumped from the engine and were seriously hurt internally. Dougherty, the brakeman, was cut and mangled in a terrible manner and cannot live. About twenty passengers were aboard and all are hurt more or less. C. H. Hedrick, C.H. & D. mail clerk, and the wife of one of the passengers on the train were badly injured. The damage done to the engine, cars and track amounts to about $30,000.

Smart Seamanship.

SAN DIEGO, Cala., Nov. 8.—The Pacific Mail steamer San Juan, Captain Pitts, which arrived from San Francisco this morning, narrowly escaped being wrecked near Port Harford. G. A. Fitch, a passenger, in an interview with a United Press reporter, gave the following account: When 18 hours out from San Francisco we ran into the breakers about eight miles south of Port Harford in San Louis Potosi. She struck her starboard bow and sheered off, and went ahead upon the beach. There was a heavy swell running and she careened heavily to starboard, the sea smashing in all the windows on the lower deck and flooding the cabin. After two hours' thumping and straining the anchor was got off astern and the windlass brought into requisition, and she was backed off, apparently no worse for her hard usage. The captain was on the bridge at the time, and had just changed her a few points in shore. Several passengers saw the breakers, but thought nothing of it until she struck. Objects could be seen nearly half a mile ahead, although the weather was somewhat thick.

The Panama Canal.

PANAMA, via Galveston, Tex., Nov. 8.—The French minister at Santa Fee de Bogota has been informed that the syndicate in the city representing the canal company requires one year in which to complete arrangements for starting the work. The extension granted to Lieut. Wyse two years ago expires in February. If the work is not begun then, the property of the company on the Isthmus reverts to the Colombian government. Panama favors the extention and the national government will probably consent to it if France guarantees the work. The ports of the republic have been opened to all ports except Hamburg, Havre and Marseilles. Certificates of residence in New York are no longer required.

WATCHING THE CONTEST.

Canadians in New York—Dr. Bergin and the Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—There is a crowd of Canadians to-day in New York witnessing the closing scenes of the Presidential election. Among them is Premier Davie. Several leading Canadians were entertained to dinner last night by Mr. Wiman.

Dr. Bergin, who is here, is pushing strongly for Mr. Costigan's place in the cabinet. Dr. Bergin says that he is an older parliamentarian than Curran, and that he was promised a portfolio in 1878 by Sir John, but he waived his claims for the Hon. Mr. O'Connor. There is also, he says, an unwritten part of the constitution which says Ontario Catholics shall have a representative in the cabinet. They have virtually none, while Quebec has three.

CLEARED OF THE CHARGES.

The Westminster Water Commissioners—Sudden Death—Todhunter Case.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 8.—At the council meeting last night the allegations made against the water commissioners to the effect that they favored Reid, Currie & Co. in the lead and brass contracts, were investigated. There was a lively time. The commissioners' report on the irregularities proved that they did not favor any particular firm, but only got better value for the money.

Hon. Justice Walkem is expected to preside at the assizes, which open to-morrow. There are seven cases.

A young man named H. Houlson, of this city, died on the Whatcom express yesterday evening before reaching the junction. At the inquest this morning a verdict of death from natural causes was returned.

The Beagens, Birdie Kazar and Pearl Deming were again remanded eight days on the charge of being concerned in the May Todhunter murder.

Officer Wiggins arrested this afternoon Mary the Indian woman wanted in the Pittendrigh murder. She was arrested at Sumas. Mary states that Peter, her husband, shot Pittendrigh, he being there for the canoe he lost. Her husband was drunk. She fled as he was going to trash her, and made her tell the first story of the assault.

WILL BE HERE TO-NIGHT.

The Dewdney Vice Regal Party Coming—Vancouver's Judicial District.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—All the empty beer bottles are being bought up by Victoria firms and Vancouver brewers are unable to get a sufficient supply.

E. B. Carmichael, president of the Union Steamship Line of New Zealand, who is now in Vancouver, while in Tacoma opened negotiations for placing two steamships on the Tacoma-Hawaiian route. They are to call at Victoria and Vancouver.

The north Vancouver council has declined to pay Dr. McGuigan his coroner's fee, because the inquest was not held within the municipality, and directed him not to hold any more unless ordered to do so.

Notice of motion was given in the council last night to close the present arrangement with City Solicitor Hamersley on December 31st and to engage a solicitor at a fixed salary to attend to all local business, no extras being allowed but court disbursements.

Improvements for the coming year will be assessed at 75 per cent. actual cash value.

The loss by the burning of the freight shed at Port Moody is estimated at $5000.

The grand and petit jurors were struck yesterday for the forthcoming first assizes of the new judicial district of Vancouver, but the session on Nov. 16th will be only formal, as the court house has only one jury room and one cell for prisoners. Accommodation cannot possibly be provided at the present court house, and it is very doubtful if the session can be held until June next, since no provision has been made for putting the act into effect. People are wondering what is the use of a nominal Vancouver judicial district anyway.

Hon. Edgar Dewdney and party arrived to-day and immediately took the steamer Islander for Victoria. No demonstration was made, but ex-Mayor Oppenheimer, Mayor Cope and several aldermen met him, and city clerk McGuigan read the inevitable address of welcome.

Street Car Strikers.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 8.—The electric system of consolidated street railways is tied up this morning. The conductors and motormen are out on strike. It is not positively known what caused the trouble, but it is understood it was due to the dismissal of a conductor last night who refused to accept a plugged dime. About six hundred men were affected.

Stepped Down and Out.

SANTIAGO, Nov. 8.—The Chilian cabinet has resigned as a result of the troubles that have been for some time brewing between the Clericals and Liberals.

ANARCHISM IN PARIS.

Passengers and Sailors Injured on a Cunard Liner in Atlantic Gales.

A Calais-Dover Steamer Ashore—Heavy Snow Along the St. Lawrence.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The anarchists are at work again. This morning a policeman found an iron instrument resembling a saucepan near the office of the Carmaux Mining Co. He took it to the police station and began to examine it. The instrument exploded, killing two policemen and wounding another fatally, and wrecking the building.

Done to Please the Tories.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—The following special cable from London appears in this morning's Globe: The suggestion cabled here from Ottawa that the decision of the Board of Agriculture, scheduling Canadian cattle, was due to anti-colonial prejudice on the part of the Liberal ministry, is quite absurd. The truth is that two new cases of the disease were reported last Tuesday, which the board's officials declared to be pleuro-pneumonia, though the Scotch experts affirmed that it was only bronchial pneumonia. President Gardner could not over-ride the decision of the board's own advisors. The law left him no option in view of the magnitude of the case at issue, but he consulted the cabinet before finally deciding. Canada's case was urged by Sir Charles Tupper, who returned from Paris specially for the purpose, but to no avail. Had Mr. Gardner decided otherwise, every Tory paper and every farmer's club in the country which now approves would have loudly denounced him. There is very slight chance of any extension being granted. At Islington to-day a small consignment of Canadian cattle, very poor in quality, fetched fivepence halfpenny to fivepence three farthings.

Parnell's Estate.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Mrs. C. S. Parnell has claimed the protection of the English bankruptcy court, and a receiver has been appointed at her own request to take charge of her affairs. It is believed that she has done this to stop the action of claimants against her own and Mr. Parnell's estate. The effect of the order will be to place another obstacle in the way of the release of the Paris fund, as, while her affairs are in bankruptcy, no money in which she is interested, whether as trustee or otherwise, can be dealt with except by leave of the court.

Ashore in the Fog.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Channel steamer connecting with the trains between London and Dover, and between Calais and Paris, went ashore near Calais yesterday in a fog, but was afterwards safely floated off, the passengers escaping with a bad scare.

Terrific Weather on the Atlantic.

QUEENSTON, Nov. 8.—The Cunard steamer Pavonia from Boston reports terrific weather during the voyage. On Wednesday, during a tremendous gale, an old gentleman in the saloon was thrown down and had several ribs broken. A seaman was also badly injured.

Heavy Snow in Quebec.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—It is reported that there are 14 inches of snow at Riviere du Loup, and that the snow plough had to be placed in front of the train between that place and St. Jean and Port Joli on Saturday.

In the Tornado's Path.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 8.—One person was killed and eighteen wounded seven miles down the Island yesterday, between six and seven o'clock, during the passage of a violent wind storm across the country from west to east. The devastated track is less than a hundred yards in width and a mile in length. Some persons driving horses in the path of the storm had their wagons knocked to pieces and themselves blown off their seats. Mr. Paschatayen's place, one of the last attacked, was the most seriously damaged. His wife and eight children were buried beneath the ruins of the falling house, and a three-year-old daughter was killed. Eighteen persons were more or less seriously injured, but no estimate of damage to property has been made.

THE CREW DESERTED.

A Captain's Trouble at Departure Bay—Death From Heart Failure.

NANAIMO, Nov. 8.—On Sunday night the crew of the bark Melrose, lying at Departure Bay, deserted the vessel in a body and left Captain Kalb in a peculiar position. The captain was enjoying a game of cribbage with his wife in the cabin and hearing an unusual noise on deck immediately went up to ascertain the cause. He saw the men leaving in a boat with their baggage, and he tried to get into the boat but was prevented by the men. He mounted the deck again and threw all the missiles he could lay his hands on at them, but to no purpose. His wife then brought him his revolver, but before he could use it the men were out of his reach. The union is said to be at the bottom of the affair, and as there are three more vessels in port with non-union crews there is likely to be more trouble of a like description.

The best piece of news that has floated around among the citizens was reported yesterday when the New V. C. Company put on about 50 unemployed miners in No. 1 shaft. The men have been waiting many months for another turn of the wheel of fortune, and their patience has been rewarded.

The trouble of late at the French Syndicate has been too much for one Benoit Mullart, and he expired yesterday from heart failure. The trouble had affected him so much that about a week ago he had a severe attack of acute mania mania, from which he gradually became worse until he died. He was buried yesterday by the K. of P. and M. & M. L. P. A.

R. Hilbert is making extensive alterations in his store to meet the growing demands of his already large business.

The first of a series of winter dances will take place in St. Paul's Institute on Tuesday night. Refreshments will be served as usual by the ladies.

Mrs. W. Keith was the lucky winner of the ticket presented by Sloan & Scott for a free trip to the World's Fair. There was quite a large list of competitors.

Dick and Jack Treveller returned home yesterday from a two months fishing trip to Canoe Pass, after having undergone quite an unpleasant experience. They nearly lost their lives. On Friday they left the Fraser River, and all that night they were struggling with the gale. All night and Saturday morning they were at the mercy of the winds, their oars were washed overboard, and also a lot of their clothes and other articles were lost in the same way. Later in the day they were able to run their boat on the ledge of a rock in Cowichan Gap. There they had to hold on to her for several hours till the wind went down. After a time one of the brothers went off to seek help, and fortunately ran across a fisherman, who lived near by. Together they managed to get their boat in a safe place, though not before considerable damage had been done. The travellers rested all day Sunday and returned home yesterday morning.

The popular Y.M.C.A. Saturday night concerts are meeting with deserved success. On Saturday night last, the attendance was even larger than usual, and the programme of vocal and instrumental music well merited the large audience. Next Saturday the Y.M.C.A. will not have a concert of their own, but will join with St. Paul's Institute in having one.

The militia had a good drill last night, though the attendance was not large. An instructor from C Battery is expected up soon. Next drill night right and left half companies will be picked to compete for an oyster supper at New Years, the losing half to stand the cost of the same. Next Sunday the boys will parade to church.

British Trade Losing Ground in Japan.

M. E. M. Hobart Hampden (student interpreter at the Toxio legation), in reviewing the foreign trade of Japan last year, states that "British trade has lost ground. It now represents less than 37 per cent. of the total foreign trade of Japan as against 41 per cent. in 1890, while the actual decrease amounts to more than £960,000. Among the principal countries trading with Japan Great Britain and Australia alone show a decrease both on the import and on the export side. As regards most of the commodities supplied to Japan from abroad all importing countries were similarly, though not equally, affected by the depression of trade, but under the headings of mining and spinning machinery, aniline dyes and iron nails, Great Britain receded, while other nations advanced, and in the case of mercury, cotton handkerchiefs, and iron (rod and bar) the loss experienced by English trade was some measure of the gain which accrued to Spain, to Germany and France, and to Germany and Belgium respectively. On the other hand, locomotives and pig iron were imported in increased quantities from the United Kingdom, mainly at Germany's expense."

Sulphate of Ammonia as a Fertilizer.

A French scientific agriculturist, says a London exchange, has made a series of remarkable experiments with potatoes, in one of which he obtained a yield of no less than 42 tons of tubers per acre. He selected the best and soundest seed potatoes, plowed the land very deeply, and manured it heavily. He also steeped the potatoes for twenty-four hours in a solution made by dissolving six pounds of saltpeter and six pounds of sulphate of ammonia in 25 gallons of water, then he allowed them to drain and stand for twenty-four hours for their buds to swell before planting them.

LOOKING FOR SOME CRUMBS.

What the Recent Peculiar Congregation of Politicians at the Capital Meant.

The Caron Whitewash Commission---Bribery Money Taken From Railway Subsidies.

From our own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, Oct. 30.—The city was full of Conservative members of Parliament last week. One day there were about twenty here and the general cry was sent abroad that they had come to settle the Manitoba school question, which is, just now, uppermost in all political discussions. It turned out, however, that this was not the nature of their mission, but that they came with axes to grind, and that their meeting here was merely a coincidence. With the certainty of a change in the Premiership soon, and in all likelihood other changes in the Cabinet, those of the party who have not got all their claims put through the council are making a rush to have them disposed of before the formation of a new ministry under Sir John Thompson. There was among the visitors Mr. Gillies, M.P. of Richmond, a representative Irish Catholic, and the talkative gentleman from East Grey, Dr. Sproule, who fills more pages of the Hansard in less time and with less information in them than any other member of the House. He belongs to that wing of the Tory party that votes one way no matter what the issue is. He has been an applicant for the portfolio of agriculture for years past, being chairman of that committee in the House of Commons, and to-day he is further away from a cabinet seat than ever he has been in the past. In Dr. Sproule and Mr. Gillies there can be found a fine blending of the yellow and green. Then there was the portly Mr. La Riviere, the man from Provencher, Mr. Riel's old constituency, who was once treasurer of Manitoba, and did not keep a cash book, and in the way of balancing down Mr. La Riviere's opinions on the French language and separate school views there appeared on the scene the doughty Dalton McCarthy. Still it was all a coincidence. Besides this there was Rufus Stepheson, once the trusted whip of the party, but now enjoying the fruits of office for past services. Robert Birmingham, the Tory organizer for Ontario, headed the list of visitors, and along with him was the portly member for Haldimand, Dr. Montague, who lays claims to be an orator, being at one time a lay preacher in the United States, and who has now an eye on the cabinet. But despite the appearance of things to the contrary it turned out that all of them were here on departmental business. Some wanted positions for themselves or their friends, others wanted expenditures of public money in their counties and none of them wanted to go away empty handed. The governor general's warrants and next year's estimates will show what they have got if not all that they have been asking.

SIR ADOLPHE CARON'S CASE.

When the commission was appointed to enquire into Sir Adolphe Caron's case it was predicted that it was to be a gigantic farce. Such has been the case. Mr. Edgar, M.P., acted wisely in refusing to appear before the commission. The taking of evidence is now over, and if the commission chooses to report the same to Parliament, we will hear a little more about the knightly supervisor of postage stamps. Until then Sir Adolphe will not be out of the woods. Although nothing was elicited in his own evidence, which consisted in his reading a brief paper admitting that he got $25,000 from Senator Ross for election purposes, still, this item itself will be one worthy of discussing once it is placed on the pages of Hansard. Some one has suggested that when the whitewashing resolution is prepared by the Government they should get the Postmaster-General to move the same. This would be a fitting ending to the absurd affair. He has so far been his own accuser, since he aided to draw up the indictment; he has selected his judges, called the witnesses, named the counsel, the date of trial and the whole mode and manner of conducting the court; and seeing he has done so, why not let him be the one to absolve himself. By all means let him complete the farce. No one is likely to pay any attention to the report of the commission, as so far little notice has been taken of the whole proceedings. Until Sir Adolphe shows that he is innocent the public will hold him guilty of the charges specified against him.

WHERE DID THIS $25,000 GO?

Notwithstanding that the tribunal was one favorable to Sir Adolphe there were some pieces of evidence which came out and which are worthy of consideration. If it is political corruption to bribe the people with their own money then Sir Adolphe ought certainly to resign. Here, for instance, is a bit of evidence worth reading:

A. R. McDonald was called in relation to the agreement referred to by J. J. McDonald on Wednesday, in which it was stated that A. R. McDonald wanted the $25,000 from the Fraserville subsidy and J. J. McDonald refused this, but consented that it should be kept as a fund for subscriptions to help friends at elections.

The witness, A. R. McDonald, questioned as to this agreement, said that he did not know whether J. J. McDonald kept the whole amount or applied it as he said to political purposes, for the good reason that he could never obtain from him any statement. There was nothing, however, in the agreement directly or indirectly connected with Sir A. P. Caron.

Now it is a pertinent question to ask where did this $25,000 go. Who got it? How was it disposed of? If a parliamentary committee had set out to investigate the matter it would have been probed to the bottom. But it is not a Parliamentary committee, but rather a whitewashing commission. This $25,000 is only part of the $100,000 which Mr. McGreevy disbursed on orders from Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron in the Quebec district constituencies.

Sir Adolphe admits getting the $25,000 from Mr. Ross, and Mr. Beemer blushingly admits in the box that he handed Mr. Ross $25,000 The evidence before the commission is not very conclusive; it could not be, owing to the tribunal, but such as it is it is favorable to Mr. Edgar, who will doubtless move next session for a parliamentary investigation into the whole matter. It is just as equally certain that the House will refuse to grant such a committee. One cannot help at present looking at this sham proceeding and contrasting it with the unmerciful way in which the Tory party is now pursuing Mr. Mercier in Quebec, and no one will dispute that the charges in the Caron case are far more serious that the other. Both of them originated over subsidy deals.

SLABTOWN.

Mourning for Murderers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Yesterday was the anniversary of anarchy in Chicago. Thirty-five hundred people stood in a cold, drizzling rain at Waldheim cemetery, and paid tribute with speech and song to the memory of "the martyrs," strewing with wreaths and flowers the graves of the five men who were condemned by law for their participation in the Haymarket riots, August Spies, George Ingel, Albert Parsons, Adolph Fischer and Louis Ling. Earnestness, enthusiasm and general good order characterized the celebration of the men and women who dedicated to the world a monument that is to mark the graves of those who, five years ago, paid the penalty of their crime with their lives. There were two features of the day's exercises, the parade in the city and the ceremonies at the cemetery. The labor organizations that were to participate gathered at the Haymarket square at 11:30 a.m., but it was noon before the procession moved. Fifteen hundred men were in line, and as they marched to the Grand Central depot, accompanied by bands playing the "Marseillaise" and the "Dead March in Saul," they were watched with interest by many who stationed themselves on the sidewalks. At the station two special trains awaited to convey the crowd to the cemetery, where the graves were lavishly decorated. On the top of the monument which marks the burial place of the five men was placed a floral gallows, from the arm of which was suspended by ropes of smilax five crimson roses. "Murdered but not dead," was the paradoxical inscription, set in carnations. On the pedestal were Spies' dying words as the noose was about his neck: "Our silence will be more powerful than words could be." Red flags were not displayed in the demonstration, but all the floral emblems bore red streamers, and that color prevailed everywhere in badges and boutonnieres. Memorial meetings were also held in London, Paris and different parts of Germany.

Both Perfectly Sure.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Chairman Harrity claims for the Democratic party the "Solid South," New York, Indiana, New Jersey, Michigan and Connecticut, and says he has information from the Western States that justifies the hope of an impending revolution that will add a number of electoral votes to those admitted to be sure for Cleveland. The Democrats also claim to have information from North and South Dakota that the electoral vote of both states is lost to Harrison. Up at the Republican headquarters they believe the fight is won. They have practically suspended operations, and this morning few chiefs were to be found around. Chairman Carter claims all the doubtful states and proclaims the Republicans victorious. State headquarters were deserted, but Chairman Hackett clung to his post to the last and will not leave for his home up in the state until this evening. David Martin and his lieutenants return to Philadelphia tonight. Martin does not express himself so positively about the result as even of his co-workers. He laughed at a story published in the morning papers and said it was nothing but a "bare-faced campaign lie, sprung at the eleventh hour." Ex-president Cleveland has special arrangements to get returns at his residence, 12 West 51st street, where he will be with a few personal friends. The managers of both sides say they expect a peaceful election. They take pains to discourage talk about possible trouble rising between the federal and state officers.

Arrested for Illegal Voting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—State Senator Osborn, of Poughkeepsie, has had a warrant issued for his arrest at the instance of Assistant District Attorney Mott, on the affidavit of a hotel keeper named H. W. Gain. He appeared before Commissioner Shields this morning and surrendered himself. Lawyer Abram Rose argued that Senator Osborn had been a resident of and voted for the same district for many years, and that the case is analogous to that of Tom Platt. A decision was then made that he was entitled to vote in Tioga county, and that the fact of his being in Albany attending to his official duties did not interfere with his rights as a voter at home. The Senator was admitted to bail in $1,500 to appear on November 14th. The arrest was made on the charge that Senator Osborn was not entitled to register in the second electoral district.

CANADIAN NOTES.

News by Mail and Wire from all Parts of the Dominion.

Rev. J. A. Banton, formerly of Nanaimo, B.C., has accepted a call to the Baptist church in Galt.

Walter Darling, inspector of the Dominion Bank, and youngest son of the late Rev. W. S. Darling, rector of Holy Trinity, Toronto, died Sunday night.

Richard R. Clarke, manager of the Orange Sentinel office and brother of ex-Mayor Clarke of Toronto, died somewhat suddenly Sunday morning. He was aged 46.

Robert Day, who served his apprenticeship to the printing business in the Mercury office, Guelph, Ont., is a candidate on the Democratic ticket as supervisor for Ward 8 in San Francisco.

H. R. Ives, the large Montreal iron manufacturer, has called a meeting of his creditors. He owes about $100,000, but his actual assets are expected to show a surplus of $100,000. An extension will probably be granted.

Mr. M. Bruce, James Baird and Jack Miller left Campbelltown, N.B., on Thursday last in a bark canoe on a goose shooting expedition. On Sunday their canoe was found bottom up. All three were undoubtedly drowned.

The railway companies have notified the secretary of the Toronto Board of Trade of an increase in export rates to Montreal. The new rates will be 12½c, 14c and 16c per hundred pounds as against former rates of 10c, 12½c and 14c.

Members of the Brotherhood of Machinery Moulders have refused to accept the reduction in wages offered by the Canadian Locomotive Works Co. of Kingston. They have been getting $2.20 per day, and the company offered $1.75.

Two old Quebec citizens passed away recently in the persons of the widow of the late Mr. Philip Peebles, manager of the Quebec gas works, at the advanced age of 92, and of Mr. James Cunningham, who had been for 54 years a member of the Quebec river police.

Archbishop Cleary, of Kingston, has issued a pastoral calling for Peter's pence, or a tribute to the Pope. The clergy of the arch-diocese have contributed $1440, the Archbishop leading off with $400. In that diocese these collections are made every four years.

The Toronto News says it is generally understood that the Ontario provincial elections will be held next year, and that the Dominion general elections will not be postponed beyond a year later than that date, while they may possibly come on a good deal sooner.

The Hamilton Natural Gas & Mining Co. has been incorporated. Several wells will be sunk in the vicinity of Hamilton before many days. The company will expend $6000 in experiments to decide definitely whether natural gas can be found in this vicinity in paying quantities.

As the steamer Huronia, of the Thompson line, was leaving Montreal on Saturday, she got beyond control of the hands and drifting out of the channel was grounded. After being relieved of 800 tons of freight she was loaded and proceeded down stream. It is believed but little damage was done.

The Arnprior saw mills have shut down for the season, and the men are flocking to the woods. McLachlan Bros. will have over one thousand men in the woods this winter, and intend putting an alligator steamboat on Golden lake to travel between Jeffreys and Foys, for the purpose of towing their logs through the lake.

It is probable that at least four, if not five, candidates will enter the field for the vacancy caused by the death of N. G. Bigelow, M.P.P. for Toronto. The names of Dr. Ogden, Philip Jamieson and Hartly Dewart are already mentioned in the Reform interest, those of Messrs. E. E. Sheppard, H. A. E. Kent, Dr Nesbit, Barlow Cumberland, Chas. Ritchie, Q.C., D. Creighton and Joseph W. St. John being suggested in connection with the Conservative nomination.

Deaf for a Year
Caused by
Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is a CONSTITUTIONAL disease, and requires a CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY like Hood's Sarsaparilla to cure it. Read:

"Three years ago, as a result of catarrh, I entirely lost my hearing and was deaf for more than a year. I tried various things to cure it, and had several physicians attempt it, but no improvement was apparent. I could distinguish no sound. I was intending putting myself under the care of a specialist when some one suggested that possibly Hood's Sarsaparilla would do me some good. I began taking it without the expectation of any lasting help. To my surprise and great joy I found when I had taken three bottles that my hearing was returning. I kept on till I had taken three more. It is now over a year and I can hear perfectly well. I am troubled but very little with the catarrh. I consider this a remarkable case, and cordially recommend

ISLAND ECHOES.

Discovery and Exciting Pursuit of an Armed Pirate in a Small Boat.

PLUMPER'S PASS, B.C., Nov. 7.—This has been rather a busy week on lawbreaking. On Thursday we shipped down a Jap for supposed conversion of his neighbor's sheep into mutton.

At 2:30 a.m. to-day Mr. Hugh Hamilton, from Pender Island, arrived at our wharf to report that he had gone out to look for his cow, and after tracking her to the beach found her head. The marauders had driven her there before slaughtering her to save packing.

Scarcely had the sun risen above the horizon before Mr. Georgeson, the lighthouse keeper, put in an appearance for help to capture a suspected pirate, with a boat supposed to have been stolen from the Fraser River sandhead lighthouse, but the ombre in the boat "lit out" at a good pace to sea and although the steamer Eliza was pressed into the service and commenced pursuit, at last accounts the fellow in the boat was still ahead with a good breeze and was fast nearing the stars and stripes. He was well prepared for resistance, having two rifles and other small arms. It is to be hoped that the Dominion Government will see their way clear to stop all small boats coming into British Columbia without reporting at some custom house.

There is strong talk of forming a brigade here to hunt some of these pirates down. There will be a collision with these depredators one of those fine nights and some of them will "stay for keeps" here.

LILLOOET MINING NEWS.

The Prospects Throughout the District are Good for Next Year.

Most of the placer claims have shut down for this season; the prospects are very good for next year.

The Vancouver Enterprise Mining Co., on Cayuse Creek are still at work on their claim getting it in condition for a large run early in the spring. Mr. Malcolm McLeod of Vancouver is superintending the work. Mr. McLeod is delighted with the dry climate of Lillooet and will probably move his family up here in the spring. He is an owner in the Vancouver Enterprise Co., and no doubt will reap a rich harvest of gold from the bed of Cayuse Creek next year.

The Lillooet Hydraulic Mining Co., are still at work. The claim is paying very well. They will probably shut down in about ten days as the supply of water is becoming short.

The Great North American Placer Claim shut down two days ago. The claim was paying about $6 per day to the man after the top dirt was removed.

The Victor Hydraulic Mining Co., on Cadwallader Creek, shut down about the end of last month. The manager, J. N. Jensen, left here last week for Victoria with a heavy bag of dust.

The Scum Scum Mining Co., on the South Fork of Bridge river, had their dam washed away about the end of September. They have expended $12,000 trying to divert South Fork from its natural channel. South Fork contains heavy gold in the old channel, but it is very expensive to get out. The pieces weigh from 1 to 7 oz., each.

The Mina Co., on Tayexon Creek, shut down last month. The claim is supposed to have paid very well during the last part of the season, and the prospects are very good for next year.

Missing Civic Records.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—A sensational disclosure was made to-day in the suit by the city against the Gas Company to recover a large sum claimed to have been unjustly collected by the company. The correctness of the company's bills turns upon the exact language of the contract made three years ago. The company asserted that its copy of the contract had been stolen, and when seeking to have the city's contract produced in court, it was discovered that seven volumes of the city's contracts with the gas company have mysteriously disappeared. The company will probably bring a criminal action against the city officials.

Reilly's Murderer Sentenced.

GENOA, Nov. 7.—The trial of the waiter Baravalle, for killing, on September 2, Frank Reilly, stoker on the U. S. cruiser Newark, took place here on Saturday. Baravalle stabbed Reilly twice while the latter was haggling about the price of lodgings with the landlord of the Hotel Universe. He was found guilty of the crime without premeditation, and was sentenced to serve twelve and a half years' imprisonment, to be perpetually debarred from employment by the city or state, and pay the costs of the trial.

Saint Columbus.

ROME, Nov. 6.—The Pope has promised the apostolic delegate to Patagonia, Mgr. Cagliero, a special fund to develop and spread Roman Catholicism among the natives. The Pope is preparing a letter to Cardinal Gibbons for the occasion of the American Episcopal congress. In it he renews his promise to beatify Columbus. More than a thousand Mexican pilgrims have arrived here for the celebration of the Papal jubilee. The Pope has been requested by the Argentine Republic to elevate to the cardinalate the Archbishop of Buenos Ayres.

Catarrh in the Head.

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood, and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many severe cases of catarrh. It gives an appetite and builds up the whole system.

Hood's Pills act especially upon the liver rousing it from torpidity to its natural duties, cure constipation and assist digestion.

A Voice From the Prison.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 7.—Being barred from communicating with Hugh O'Donald in jail through a guard or by personal note, the United Press sent to the prisoner a special letter this afternoon, asking if the letter to Burke was genuine. The following reply was received:—

"ALLEGHANY COUNTY JAIL,
"Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 7.

"I wrote the letter to Mr. J. B. Burke in answer to one sent me asking if I had the same views of the tariff as formerly. All the enemies of the locked out men at Homestead are Democrats, from Governor Patterson down. General Snowden, Chief Justice Paxton, the New York Sun and other Democratic papers are against us. If the working-men of this country do not defeat the national Democratic ticket they will be untrue to themselves.

"(Signed) HUGH O'DONNELL."

Some iron workers happened to be in the United Press office just as the letter came in, and exhibited surprise at the contents. Said one, "It only leads me to believe more than ever, as we have already said, that he is not altogether sound in his mind. You see he even puts down Chief Justice Paxton as a Democrat. Everyone in Pennsylvania knows that Paxton is a lifelong Republican and has never changed his politics. I think that enough in itself to prove that O'Donnell is out of his head.

Washington Hops Abundant.

PUYALLUP, Nov. 6.—The hop market is very quiet, as all persons are much interested in politics just at present. Probably there will be very few transfers until after election. E. Meeker & Co. bought on the 2nd inst. 115 bales of hops in Oregon at 21 cents per pound. Henry Becket of Orting had somewhere near 14 tons, which he sold the first of the week to Louis Lachmund for 20 cents. Stevenson, of the same place, who had about six tons, sold for the same price. E. C. Merrill went to Oregon this week to oversee the planting of 40 acres of hop land belonging to himself and George H. Rose. C. W. Stewart finds by accurate measurement that his yard comprises nine and one half acres exactly, and from this yard in 1889 16 tons were harvested and baled and sold for 30 cents. This year there were 1000 hills missing, so only eight and one-half acres would be counted, and from this he harvested seven tons, which he considered a very good return, all things considered.

Free Church Conference.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A cable dispatch says that the great Free Church conference, for which preparations have been in progress for over a year, was formally opened to-day at Manchester. The congress is composed of delegates from all churches except the Roman Catholic, that are not under the patronage and control of the state, including the Presbyterian, Baptist, Congregational and the various branches of the Methodist denomination. The gathering is one of the most important of its kind that has been held for many years, and will be watched with great interest by the Protestant Episcopal, or dominant church.

Happy Bavaria

MUNICH, Nov. 7.—It is stated that when the Bavarian premier was in Rome the Pope remarked to him that Bavaria was the only part of Germany where the church enjoyed the fullest freedom. Cardinal Rampolla, the Papal Secretary of State, is declared, on the same authority, to have informed the Bavarian statesman that he was no friend of the Triple Alliance.

Discouraged by Debt.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—Senator Count Johann Tarasicki, member of an old Polish family, attempted to kill himself to-day in the Parliamentary buildings. He shot himself in the head, but the bullet glanced and he will probably recover. He was deeply in debt, and is said to have bet heavily on the turf. He was removed from the building to his apartments, where he now lies.

Exquimaux at the Fair.

CHICAGO, Ills., Nov. 8.—Columbia Isabel Susan Mack, the Esquimaux born a week ago on the World's Fair grounds, died to-day. She had been very fragile since her birth. The other babe that came into the Esquimaux village is strong and well. There is no sickness in the colony, and the Esquimaux are enjoying their stay and the attention they receive.

Hungarian Politics.

BUDA PESTH, Nov. 7.—In the lower house of the Hungarian Diet to-day, the Minister of War was questioned with regard to the report that the Ministry had resigned. He replied that Count Zapari, the prime minister, was the only member of the Government who could give the House any information.

Will Die by Electricity.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Peter Schultz, a young German, found guilty of the murder of the baby of Mary Wertheimer, was to-day sentenced by Judge Moore to be electrocuted at Sing Sing during the week beginning December 19th.

Ominously Calm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—An atmosphere of ominous calm prevades the political headquarters of the Democratic and Republican campaign committees. The fight has been made, and now both sides are waiting for the count.

Must Attend to Duty.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—It has been decided that in future neither the Attorney-General nor the Solicitor-General will accept private law practice, except in appeals before the Privy Council or House of Lords.

The Cotton War.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Saturday saw the beginning of what seems likely to prove the greatest industrial war between capital and labor the country has ever known. Cotton mills employing about 14,000,000 spindles have shut down, about 24,000 spinners being thrown out of employment. The card and blowing room operatives, who necessarily became idle when the spindles stopped, number about 25,000. The members of both associations paid special levies lately into the treasury, which will be increased by members staying at work giving the strikers an income of over $150,000 per week. The operatives appear to hold the strongest position, as the improving prospect in the cotton trade has induced a number of mill owners to keep on at work at the old scale of wages. Should improvement prove temporary, however, the mills will shut down again and the struggle with the men will grow more bitter. At a meeting of spinners' delegates to-night, telegrams were read showing that it is expected that 53,000 workmen will be idle by Monday. Great enthusiasm was shown at the meeting.

CITY HEALTH NOTICE

THE ACTING MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER for the City of Victoria recommends that all citizens be required to thoroughly clean up their premises, removing all garbage heaps, decaying vegetables, stable manure, and night soil, and disinfecting all closets and drains as often as necessary, and generally to comply with the provisions of the "Consolidated Health By Law.

By order.
WELLINGTON J. DOWLER,
C.M.C.

Victoria, October 1, 1892.

EXTRACTS FROM THE 'CONSOLIDATED HEALTH BY-LAW."

ACCUMULATION OF FILTH.

No person shall permit or suffer the accumulation, so as to be a nuisance, of any offal, filth, refuse, stagnant water, or other offensive matter or thing upon his premises, or on any vacant lot belonging to him, or for the owner or lessee of which he is the agent.

No person shall place on any land or in or upon any street, road, or highway, any manure or other refuse matter, or any dirt or filth which is or is likely to become, a nuisance.

No person shall convey or cause to be conveyed through any street, road, or highway, any night-soil, swill, or other filth or offensive matter dangerous to health, between the hours of six in the morning and twelve in the evening, or at any time except in a proper covered cart or vehicle, so as to prevent slopping or spilling.

Every tenant or occupier of a building shall dispose of all animal and vegetable refuse from such building or on the premises occupied therewith, either by burning the same or by placing it in a proper covered receptacle, the contents of which he shall cause to be removed at least once every week.

No person shall throw into, or leave in or upon, any street, court, square, road, lane, alley, wharf, public enclosure, vacant lot, pond, or body of water, any dead animal, dirt, sawdust, soot, ashes, cinders, shavings, hair, shreds, manure, fish shells, waste water or filth of any kind, or any refuse, animal, or vegetable matter whatever.

DRAINAGE AND PRIVIES.

The owner, lessee, agent, or person having the care of any ground, yard, vacant lot, or other property where stagnant water or other nuisance exists, abutting on any street through which a common sewer shall have been constructed shall cause the same to be effectually drained into such common sewer.

The owner, lessee, agent, or occupier of any building or premises used as a dwelling house, hotel, restaurant, saloon, shop, store, office, factory, wash-house, or otherwise, shall furnish the same with a sufficient drain underground to carry off all waste or foul water or liquid filth; and no such drain shall empty or discharge into or upon any street, road, or highway, or any open drain thereon, unless in the opinion of the Mayor and Council the same shall not be detrimental to the public health.

All vaults and privies shall be made tight, so that the contents thereof cannot escape therefrom, and as remote from any dwelling, well, or water tank as practicable.

OVERCROWDING.

No person shall let or occupy, or suffer to be occupied, as a dwelling or lodging, any room which—

(a.) Does not contain at all times at least 384 cubic feet of space for each person occupying the same

(b.) Has not a window made to open in a manner approved by the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector; or

(c.) Has not appurtenant to it the use of a water-closet, earth closet or privy, constructed in accordance with the by-laws and regulations of the City.

And every room in which a person passes the night, or is found between midnight and five o'clock in the forenoon, shall be deemed to be occupied as a dwelling or lodging within the meaning of this section.

SLAUGHTER-HOUSES.

No person shall erect, open, or use any slaughter-house within the limits of the City of Victoria.

EVENTION OF THE SPREAD OF DISEASE.

Whenever a person suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, is an inmate of any hotel or boarding house, the keeper, or one of the keepers, of such hotel or boarding-house shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Every medical practitioner attending or visiting any person who is suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a maligant character dangerous to the public health, shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Any officer of the Corporation may seize, and under the direction of the Medical Health Officer, the Mayor or the Sanitary Inspector, destroy any tainted or unwholesome meat, poultry, fish, or other article of food exposed or offered for sale.

PENALTY.

Every person guilty of an infraction of any of the provisions of this by-law shall, upon conviction thereof, in a summary manner, before the Police Magistrate or any two Justices of the Peace having jurisdiction in the City, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, and costs if ordered; and if such penalty, and costs if ordered, be not paid immediately or within such period as such Police Magistrate or Justices may appoint, the same may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, or such offender may be imprisoned, with or without hard labor, for any term not exceeding three calendar months, unless such penalty, and costs if ordered, be sooner paid

THE MUNICIPAL PROBLEM.

All who are interested in the question of municipal government—and every citizen of every city should be so interested—ought to read two articles published in the November number of the Forum. One of these is from the pen of the Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, who compares the results of civic government in Birmingham and Boston; in the other Charles Francis Adams treats of lessons to be drawn from the municipal experience of Quincy, Mass. The names of these two men, almost equally eminent each in his own country, and perhaps of equal ability, are a guarantee of the value of their observations and opinions. Mr. Chamberlain has had much to do with the perfecting of Birmingham's civic government, he was mayor of the city in 1873-76, and to his ability and energy the happy condition of its affairs is largely due. Birmingham has been styled the best governed city in the world, a proud eminence to which it must appear entitled in the eyes of any person who reads Mr. Chamberlain's paper. At all events the residents of most other cities might well look to it as a model and sigh for the time when their own civic affairs can be brought to a similar condition. As to the comparison between Birmingham and Boston, two cities of nearly equal population, a perusal of Mr. Chamberlain's article is necessary to an appreciation of its full value. To put it briefly, Boston is shown to spend on its service in a year the sum of $12,570,000, while Birmingham's expenditure is £522,000, or about $2,610,000. But though the English city's expenses are so much lighter there is every reason to believe, from the abstract which Mr. Chamberlain presents, that it gets a better service than the "Hub". Its condition he describes in this way:

"Birmingham, in fact, was an overgrown village with the population of a great town. But now great public edifices not unworthy of the importance of a midland metropolis have risen on every side. Wide arteries of communication have been opened up. Rookeries and squalid courts have given way to fine streets and open places. The roads are well paved, well kept, well lighted, and well cleansed. The whole sewerage of the town has been remodelled, and the health of the people is cared for by efficient sanitary inspectors. Baths and wash-houses are provided at a nominal cost to the users. Free libraries and museums of art are open to all the inhabitants; free schools and a school of art, together with facilities for technical instruction, are provided for their education. Recreation is not forgotten, and not less than ten parks and recreation grounds are now maintained by the corporation. New assize courts and courts of justice have been built. The police force and fire brigade are kept in the highest state of efficiency, while the great monopolies of gas and water have passed into the hands of the representatives of the whole community, who have also acquired the tramways, and have thus retained full control over the roads of the city."

If any man in any city wants more than the people of "Brummagem" get for their municipal expenditure he must be hard to please. Its servants are well paid; the town clerk gets $11,000 a year, the city surveyor $7000, the city treasurer $5250, the chief of police $4600, and so on. Nor is there any niggardliness shown in any direction. The workingmen employed by the city appear to get fairly high wages as compared with other laborers. Proportionately the lowest wages appear to be those of the police, five shillings per day and the firemen at 3s. 6d. to 6s. 6d. per day. Mr. Chamberlain does not undertake to say why Birmingham should be better governed than Boston for less than one-fourth of the cost, but he points out some ways in which the difference might be accounted for. We suspect that the causes might be all summed up in one sentence: The people of Birmingham insist on their civic affairs being conducted on business principles, while the people of Boston do not. Every citizen of the English city takes an interest in its government, and none are too high and mighty to take an active part in it, esteeming it an honor to have a seat at its council board. No salary is given to the mayor or to members of the council; they are content to work for the common good. This is not the state of affairs in Boston, or in any other American city that we know of. Too commonly the men who would give the best service would resent a proposal that they should take part in civic government.

It may be well to look at the difference in the two municipal systems, for there is always a question as to what system would secure the best results. The civic government of Birmingham consists of mayor and council. Of the latter two-thirds are elected by the ratepayers, and these ordinary councillors elect the other third, who are distinguished by the title of aldermen. The ordinary councillors hold office for three years, one-third of their number retiring each year. The aldermen hold office for six years. The mayor is elected by the council each year, but one man may be re-elected several times. In Boston the common American plan is followed, the council being composed of two bodies corresponding to the two branches of the state and federal legislatures. Both aldermen and delegates, or as they are called in some cases, select men and councillors, are elected yearly by the people. The mayor is a purely executive officer; he takes no part in the legislative work, except to sign or to veto the enactments of the two "houses." The experience of Birmingham and Boston must certainly go to show that the English plan gives the best results. Again, the experience of Birmingham seems evidence that the plan of retirement in rotation is a good one. As Mr. Chamberlain remarks: "This system of renewing the council by sections has the advantage of preserving some continuity in its policy, and retaining the experience of the older members, while at the same time it allows the general drift of public opinion to be made immediately manifest." But of even more significance than this is Mr. Chamberlain's closing sentence:—

If ever the principles of action should change; if the best men should be so occupied with their own fortunes that they should leave the care of the commonwealth to those who will see in their duty only an opportunity to plunder; if office is sought, not for the good which can be done, but for the political patronage it may afford; if paid officials lose their pride in their work and their loyalty to the public that employs them; if incapacity is overlooked and corruption is condoned; then, if these things happen, the dignity, the efficiency, and the economy of our public service will all disappear, and the institution of local government, so long our pride and our glory, will be discredited in the eyes of the people and will become a by-word and a reproach.

This thought, that the efficiency and honesty of civic administration depend most on the spirit of the people themselves, is also the central idea of Mr. Adams' article on the government of Quincy. This city some four years ago departed from the ordinary American plan, substituting a single body of councillors for the former dual system. The Quincy mayor and council, however, keep up the old distinction of functions, the mayor being an executive and not a legislative element in the Government. The plan, Mr. Adams says, has worked fairly well, but he has faults to find still. One of these is the ward system, which he thinks should be abolished, allowing the councillors to be elected at large, with provision for minority representation. Another weakness Mr. Adams finds in the fact that the system, however good in itself, does not secure the services of the best men to carry it out. This is the old story of public apathy, which continually crops up as the great cause of municipal misgovernment. Mr. Adams has an idea that this weakness might be at least to some extent overcome by making it compulsory for citizens to serve as members of the council, refusal being punished by a fine. This point is not often discussed by municipal reformers, and they might find it worthy of mere attention. In the meantime, we recommend a perusal of these two articles in the Forum to all who give any thought to the subject.

The Enderby Turf Club at their recent meeting made a financial success, as well as having some good races, although the track was heavy.

The C.P.R. is bidding for the business of the lower Okanagan country south of the boundary, and expects to reach the American towns of Loomis, Golden, Oro and Conconully, and control their freight and passenger trade for next year.

The people of Golden are informed that the C.P.R. intend to fence their property in Golden and vicinity, and to include within their fences the highway between Golden and the ranches to the west and certain streets which are shown on the Dominion Government plan, and also the approaches to the bridge over the Kicking Horse river, and are protesting against it to the Commissioner of Lands and Works.

THE GREAT INTERIOR.

News of the Week From the Mountains and Valleys of the Upper Country.

The Climate of Kamloops Changing.—Notes of the Mines, Farms and Ranches.

[From the Inland Sentinel.]

Mr. Frank Allingham, on his way down the North Thompson, visited the "Lone Prospector" at Mosquito Flat. He pronounces it an "awfully good prospect," and we are willing to bank on his opinion.

The Government trail from Fish Creek to the Northeast Arm is completed. They have constructed 20 miles from the Arm to within a few miles of the creek, where they met the end of the trail which was made last year.

Should anyone doubt the fertility of the soil at Kamloops and the Thompsons Valleys, he need but take a look at the lawn at Mr. Megaw's residence. It is almost a solid sward of green, and is the growth of this one summer, as the result of irrigation.

Work at the Coal Hill mine is progressing favorably. There are now two shifts of four men each working night and day. The seam has improved very much during the past week, about two feet of dirt having given place to coal. The seam is now about five feet thick and the foreman is of opinion that during next week it will prove sufficiently clean for market.

The Kamloops Coal Co., Ltd., by their secretary, M. J. McIver, make application for 1,000 inches of water to be taken from Newhykwaiston Creek, with ditch and flume privileges for irrigation, domestic, mining, mechanical, manufacturing and hydraulic purposes for 99 years on their 1,800 acres of coal lands on the North Thompson; Mr. J. S. Lawrence makes a similar application for his 500 acres in the same locality.

It would almost seem as if the climate of Kamloops is changing. We are now apparently in the midst of what might be called "eastern fall weather." Usually in November there are some weeks of the most charming sunshine, bright, cool and health-inspiring, but now we have dark lowering days with rain, much like coast weather, though less in degree. This, however, is only the beginning of the month, and before long we expect to be able to record many beautiful November days.

Mr. R. S. Sherman, who has returned from surveying timber limits near Harrison Lake, reports that Mr. Tallyard, the mining engineer of the Anglo-American Co., has discovered some wonderfully fine gold-bearing quartz veins at the head of Harrison Lake, and is confident that that part of the Province will turn out a valuable mining region, as platinum and magnetic iron ore have also been found there. The company is preparing to begin development work at once, and, as they have abundant capital, the enterprise will be of great benefit to that part of the district.

Mr. Thomas Elliott, of the Rock Creek district, was in Victoria this week, and while there took the oath of office and received the appointment of postmaster of Fairview, which is 25 miles from Penticton and 15 from Osoyoos, and will receive mails three times a week. Mr. Elliott reports that since the English syndicate purchased the Rattler and other mines, they have expended $10,000 in improvements, that new mining machinery will be brought in and put to work. The entire district feels inspired with confidence by the cash purchases of the English company.

[From the Kootenay Star.]

Ben Slaton, a young man about 21 or 22 years old, who was attached to MacMahon's circus as candy seller, died of hemorrhage of the lungs on Saturday night while on the road between Donald and Revelstoke. He was buried in Revelstoke cemetery.

Mr. H. Seroy has been one of the most active prospectors in the Lardeau this summer, and has made some very rich discoveries near the head of Haley Creek and also to the south of Trout Lake. He was in town during the whole of last week, and left again with a working party for the mines on Tuesday. They will remain there until driven out by the snow. Mr. Seroy is prospecting on behalf of the Spokane & Great Northern Mining Company, of Spokane Falls, Wash., who will invest a large amount of money in the Lardeau mines next summer. An assay of the ore from the Black Prince claim, made by Messrs. Ward & Dickie, assayers of Nelson, on the 25th ult., went 427.31 oz. per ton in silver. This was not a picked sample, but was taken from the vein at hazard. Two samples from the No. 2 Glacier, a claim about eight miles south of Trout Lake, showed: No. 1, 405 oz.; and No. 2, 200 oz. silver per ton. Though these are high assays, yet Mr. Seroy says 200 oz. to the ton is the lowest he has ever had from Lardeau ores. He tells the same story that is now so familiar to us in this district, although the outside public seem to be still doubtful—"that there is no mining district on this continent that can begin to compare with the Lardeau, both for size of vein and richness of mineral." Mr. Seroy corroborates every word uttered by Mr. Haskins at the banquet last week, and adds: If people have any doubts about it let them go in and see for themselves.

AN INDIAN TRANSACTION.

A Story That Hints at Serious Injustice to a Too-Confiding Siwash.

Indians Alleged to Have Devoured the Body of a Comrade at a Potlach.

Mrs. Simpson, an Indian woman, wife of a white man living at Alert Bay, was one of the passengers down on the steamer Barbara Boscowitz. She called at the TIMES office last evening and related the story of some trouble at Alert Bay which she said she desired called to both public and official notice. The facts of the matter as related by her are as follows: It seems that some time ago Con-te-les, the chief whom she charges, is not a true tyhee, borrowed 800 blankets from an ordinary Indian named Ar-min-lar, giving as security a small piece of copper. The latter is a sort of symbol of rank and increases in value with age. The original pieces of copper came from the north. In late years, however, many have been made and they, too, seem to have been accepted as original and aged. This particular piece of copper came from Queen Charlotte Islands, and is highly prized.

The tynee recently returned 100 of the blankets and demanded the surrender of the copper, but this the subject refused to give up, until the other 700 blankets, he claims, were returned. Con-te les appealed to Constable Wolcott, who arrested Ar-min-lar and took him before Indian Agent Pidcock. The latter sentenced him to six months in jail. The Indian still refused to give up the copper, and after spending a month in jail, escaped and fled to the mountains. The Indian woman says that the case is not for criminal, but civil, action, and that a majority of the Indians believe that an injustice has been done the man.

On arriving in the city Mrs. Simpson called on Mr. Lindley Crease, barrister and solicitor, and placed the case in his hands, and an endeavor will be made to do something in the matter. The woman says that Ar-min-lar is willing to give himself up, if he will be brought to Victoria for a hearing, or to serve his sentence out. He fears re-arrest at the expiration of his present term of imprisonment. The woman says further that Ar-min-lar has been virtually a slave to Con-te-les for 10 years. She says there is no fear of trouble over the matter despite the fact that nearly all the Indians are on the side of the escaped prisoner in the dispute. Mrs. Simpson will probably call on Supt. Vowell to-day.

Mrs. Simpson makes another statement, which is somewhat serious. When the Boscowitz called at Quathiasca Cove, on Valdez Island, near Cape Mudge, she was told by an Indian, that during the potlach at Cape Mudge the body of an Indian had been eaten. This may be all nonsense, for the northern Indians have not been cannibals for many years. The woman says she is willing to tell all she knows about this charge to the Indian authorities.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

A fisherman named Nicholson was accidentally shot during the small-arm target practice of the crew of H.M.S. Warspite at Esquimalt at 11 o'clock this morning. He was painfully but not seriously wounded.

The sailors have a range on the rocks at the point just below the dry dock. Morris tubes are inserted in their rifles and a small cartridge about the size of a 22-long used. Nicholson was in company with Captain Black, formerly of the schooner Winnifred, now held at Sitka for poaching. They were passing in direct line of the target, and some of the Jack tars called to them to look out. They answered that they were "all right." Just then a bullet missed the target and was seen to ricochet along the water. Nothing was thought of it then, and even Nicholson did not know that the bullet had struck him in the fleshy part of the thigh. His first notice of it was when he felt blood trickling down his leg.

He landed with his companion, and loosening his clothes discovered a small sized wound from which the blood flowed very freely. His companion went for assistance to the Warspite. Dr. Jones responded and had Nicholson conveyed to the marine hospital in the ship's launch. The wounded man was able to walk, but was quite weak from the free flow of blood. The bullet was found to be imbedded in the flesh of the thigh, and the doctor intended to remove it. No danger is anticipated from the wound.

Nicholson lives in Victoria and is well known among the fishermen and along the water front.

TO BE LIBELLED.

The British Ship Bankburn's Late Crew Will Take Action.

British Consul Klocker, of Port Townsend, was in town yesterday. Mr. Klocker tried to induce the crew of the British bark Bankburn to reship at Port Blakeley. The crew at first refused to reship, but afterwards agreed to man the bark, if she were brought around to the Royal Roads. Consul Klocker said that Captain Davies would not agree, and the interview was unproductive. Consul Klocker left last night for Port Townsend. He agreed not to clear the Bankburn for 48 hours, to give the sailors a chance to libel the vessel. Lawyer Walls and Robert Simpson, one of the former crew of the Bankburn, also left by the Kingston for Port Townsend. The ship will be libelled to-day.

An Accomplished Actress.

Jeffreys Lewis succeeded in pleasing a large audience at the Victoria last night, and she did it in her own peculiar way. Miss Lewis is an actress with no double, as most actresses have. She acts like nobody else; her more enthusiastic admirers say that nobody else can act like her. However that may be, she is always very interesting, and plays the wicked, beautiful adventuress perfectly. The cool manner in which she lights the cigarette and smokes it is full of power, although a very simple action. But it is one of those little things that require a great actress to do them properly. Miss Lewis will electrify the audience this evening as Geraldine in Belasco's noted play "La Belle Russe." To those who know a good thing when they see it nothing further need be said. Miss Lewis will be seen at her best to-night.

FOOTBALL.

VICTORIA VS. WESTMINSTER.

The following have been selected to play for the Victoria Football Club against New Westminster on Thursday next at Beacon Hill, at 3 p.m.:—

W. A. Ward, back; C. Roberts, Lieut. Sir R. K. Arbuthnot, A. Crease, three-quarter backs; A. Ackland, Lieut. A. Ethelstan, half-backs; H. Haines (captain), W. H. Langley, L. Crease, H. F. M. Jones, J. Fraser, H. Barker, J. Brimstone, P. Hibben, W. H. Pegram, forwards. The captain earnestly requests that those playing will provide themselves with the club colors, so as to avoid any confusion during the game.

ASSOCIATION GAMES.

The first eleven of the Victoria Club will play an eleven of the Navy at Esquimalt on Thursday (Thanksgiving Day). At the Hill the Lacrosse team will play the second eleven. The teams will appear in to-morrow evening's paper.

PEDESTRIANISM.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 8.—Chris. Miller will leave this city to-morrow night for New Orleans, where, on Friday or Saturday, he will begin to walk around the United States. He will go west through Texas, up through California to British Columbia, and then around the great lakes to New York and New England, and after walking around Maine, will go south along the seaboard and finish his tramp to New Orleans to the point of starting. He will walk the entire distance, and believes that he can make the trip in two years.

Aluminium in New Uses.

New uses are being found for aluminium. According to a press dispatch published lately, an army officer stationed at Denver has sent to the War Department samples of camp utensils and portions of equipment made of the metal. It is claimed that the use of it not only effects a saving in the weight of the accoutrements of the infantry soldier and in the horse equipments of the cavalry of a pound or more, but the qualities of the metal render the articles made of it easily cleaned. It is further asserted that with aluminium at $1.50 in the manufactured shape many portions of the equipment can actually be furnished for less than they now cost in brass.

ARRIVAL OF THE KONGO.

A Ship of the Imperial Japanese Fleet Reaches Esquimalt To-Day.

The Japanese naval training ship Kongo arrived in Esquimalt at noon to-day. She was sighted off the Race quite early in the day and was boarded by Pilot Buckman, who brought her in. Shortly after she came to anchor and fired her salute a TIMES reporter boarded her. His experience was, to say the least, quite interesting.

At the gangway a little bit of a Jap carrying a fierce-looking magazine rifle, twice his own height, gave the command to halt and not go aft. Then came a pleasant little wait of 10 or 15 minutes, during which about 40 or 50 sailors, likewise about the size of pigmies, congregated about the reporter and eyed him with open eyed wonder. Then a petty officer, smaller even than all the rest, appeared, and in broken English wanted to know what was wanted. The word "reporter" he did not seem to understand. An Esquimalt Chinese laundryman here appeared over the side, and he too was halted. The little petty officer made about 10 trips aft and finally wound up by getting the Chinaman's business card mistaken for that of the reporter. The newspaper man appealed to a Japanese gentleman from the city who was among those who came aboard, and finally an officer came forward to the gangway and in broken English imparted the following information:

The Kongo was 48 days coming across from Yokohama, using sail when convenient, and steam only for a short time. The only incident was a gale on October 1st, which did no damage. The vessel is known as a composite ship of 2280 gross tonnage. She carries eight big breech-loading Krupp rifles and a secondary battery of machine guns. She is commanded by I. Tashiro, who ranks as captain in the Japanese navy. She has 21 other officers and 343 men all told. There is a large number of cadets aboard. The vessel will remain here for a week and will then go to San Francisco.

That was about all the information obtainable. They did not seem to understand the newspaper business, and acted as if they took the reporter for a Chinese spy in disguise.

From the limited observations of the reporter the Kongo is a training ship that does not train. The only thing done with sailor-like alacrity was when the boatswain piped below for dinner. The sailors the rest of the time either gazed fixedly at the visitors or laughed at them. Another curious thing was this. Here and there about the main deck, fixed over small stands, were slowly burning pieces of manilla or some such substance. Their use was explained after lunch. They were cigar lighters, and were immediately surrounded by a lot of anxious smokers seeking lights for their cigars or cigarettes. There is not a single big man in the ship, and it looks as if she were manned by a lot of small boys

Capt. Buckman, the pilot, was entertained at lunch aboard and came away with a better impression of the officers and crew than the reporter. Said he: "There is a nice lot of fellows aboard, only they are not up in English, and do not understand. They are all right though. They keep their ship tidy above deck, even if there is not so much discipline as we have. She will take 300 tons of coal here and go to San Francisco."

THE WOMAN IN BLACK.

Lawyer Mills Wants the Name of a Fair Lady in a Black Sacque.

Chan Chou sat in the police court with his arm in a sling and four patches of plaster on his face. Chan Chou was bitten by a dog belonging to Mrs. Shaw. Mrs. Shaw, a young woman of 30 summers or so, sat in the court with her husband and a female neighbor. S. Perry Mills represented the Celestial and Mr. Helmcken acted for Mrs. Shaw. The charge against Mrs. Shaw was inflicting grevious bodily harm.

Dr. Hanington gave evidence that the wounds were dangerous if untreated.

Chan Chou swore that Mrs. Shaw engaged him to cut a load of wood for 75 cents. Mrs Shaw refused to pay, and told him to go to the man who had sent him with a piece of paper to the house. Mrs. Shaw gave witness a piece of paper to take to her husband to get the money. The celestial again returned to the house for the money. Mrs. Shaw told him to go away else she would set the dog on on him. He refused. Mrs. Shaw then unchained the dog. The dog bit him in the hand, arm and face. Chan Chou afterwards said that it was not Mrs. Shaw that set on the dog. It was her neighbor who was in court with her. The celestial had mistaken Mrs. Shaw's neighbor for Mrs. Shaw.

Lawyer Mills wanted to place the lady in black, as the Chinaman designated her, in the witness box. Mr. Helmcken objected. Mr. Mills wanted to know the name of the lady in black.

Magistrate Macrae said there was no case made out against Mrs. Shaw. Mr. Helmcken said judgment had been given and he was going to leave court. Mr. Mills maintained that the court had no right to give judgment until all the evidence was in. Magistrate Macrae said he had not delivered judgment. Mr. Helmcken replied that decision had been given. The Chinese lottery cases were adjourned till Friday.

Alex McLean was sentenced to a month in jail for the theft of two beer glasses and a towel. J. Winger, drunk, was fined $5. Colin Ross, like offence, was dismissed. First charge.

Imperial Federation.

The members of the Victoria Parliamentary Debating Society have tendered the use of the Sir William Wallace Hall on Broad street and a cordial invitation to Mr. G. R. Parkin, of the Imperial Federation Society, who has consented to give an address to-morrow (Wednesday) evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. Helmcken will occupy the chair and several members of the Government and other prominent men in the city have expressed their intention of being present. Those who take an interest in the question of Imperial Federation will hear the subject treated thoroughly by Mr. Parkin, as he has perhaps given it more thought than any other man living. He has travelled through New Zealand and Australia and visited all the other great colonies, and has addressed hundreds of meetings in England on the subject. Mr. Parkin is an excellent speaker, and even those who taken no interest in the question will have an opportunity of hearing a really fine speech. The meeting is free to all.

The Canada Western Survey.

The starting of the survey party to locate the first division of the Canada Western has attracted attention again to Duluth, from which point the line is to be located south on the island. Already two business houses are preparing to start there, and when the actual construction of the line begins the point will become one of bustling activity. It must succeed. It will be the northern centre of a country rich in natural resources which the line will develop. Now is the time for investors to purchase.

Victoria West Real Estate.

Mr. D. R. Young is calling for tenders for the erection of nine five or six roomed cottages on Walker street, Victoria West, north of the old Esquimalt road. Adjoining the property on which these cottages are to be built, Mr. Young has ten additional building lots, which he is offering for sale. The purchaser of each of these lots will be supplied with building material for the erection of a residence.

GEORGE AND BELLAMY.

Two Theories for Creating an Equal Distribution of Wealth in the World.

The evil in the present social state is the unequal distribution of property; the abnormal wealth on the one side and the abnormal poverty on the other. By abnormal poverty I mean that bare subsistence which a large part of every community earns by continuous labor; poor and insufficient nourishment, clothing that covers the body but does not comfort it, and dwellings in which every consideration of decency, warmth, ventilation and sanitary condition is ignored, and this along with an absolute want of all that can minister to the æsthetic and spiritual faculties.

As to the cause of the evil, political economists are agreed that it is a necessary incident of the freedom of movement in the production and distribution of wealth. But they are wedded to the system because it appears to be the natural order, and because this free play of human energies acting upon the most powerful motives known to men, seems to promise the largest results in the aggregate wealth of the community, however hard it may bear on individuals. But really it may be questioned whether the motive of personal gain is the ruling incentive to human endeavor. The advancement in science, in literature, in art, the benevolent work of the world, the righting of ancient wrongs, the steady advance in the mode of treatment of social questions, all show that the community is capable of emancipating itself from the mercenary motives of its ordinary activity; and let a whole nation be roused to save itself, and throw off the incubus of a great wrong, as in our Civil War, and we shall see that human nature may be a different thing from the labels and the descriptions of the political economists.

It is by no means certain that the common wealth is increased by the pursuit of individual gain. The shopkeepers obtain a considerable part of the wealth of the community without contributing anything appreciable to it. The distribution effected by them could be accomplished with a tenth part of the force employed. All goods pass through three or four hands at least, and each adds something to the price, to maintain the large army of persons employed in this clumsy and costly process of distribution. The difference between first and final cost means just so much deducted from the wealth of the community. Moreover, individual initiative renders it possible to produce artificial fluctuating prices, and thus provide support for a large army of speculators at the cost of the community, although each works confessedly for selfish and not for common ends.

There have been two attempts to solve this problem, one Mr. Edward Bellamy's "Looking Backward," and the other Mr. Henry George's proposition to abolish private property in land. For myself I am inclined to agree with the orthodox political economist in the contention, that the selfish form of individualism is the only possible one, and that it is useless to talk of the freedom of individualism without the necessary accompaniment of competition and conflict. But I contend with all earnestness that at whatever cost, individual action must be unselfish, whether that end be secured by the concerted action of socialism, or simply by the constant influence of Christian motives upon individuals.—Prof. Ezra P. Gould, in The Dawn.

PROGRESS AND SIGNS.

How Advancement is to be Measured in All Things.

There are few things more liable to be confused together than real progress and the signs by which we suppose it to be measured. In nature, the sign is always a true indicator of the thing signified, as every new revelation of science is disclosing. When in the morning we see the sun rise above the eastern horizon, or in the evening watch its last rays descend in the west, it tells us truly of the distance the earth has travelled on its axis. The blossoms of the spring, the foliage of the summer, the harvest of the autumn and the snow of the winter are sure signs of the returning seasons; and the very changes which appear from age to age in the structure of the rocks, and the distribution of the waters, speak of the long and patient fulfillment of her never-failing laws.

But in the signs by which we strive, with more or less intelligence, to indicate the progress of our fellow-men, we can put no such confidence. Sometimes, of course, the story they tell is true, but very often they deceive us into supposing that much more has been accomplished than is actually the case. The simple passage from one position to another, from one honor to another, from one office, or rank, or responsibility, to another, does not always signify that the occupant has truly progressed so far in ability, fidelity and wisdom. Again and again do we find that men are lifted from step to step by many other forces beside that of steadily advancing merit, and yet we fail to discriminate, and continue to feel respect and to pay honor to him who has gained the place, as if that were a true index of his having earned it. This habit confuses all our ideas of what progress really is. We should not tolerate it in other things—in travel, for example. If we found that the milestones had been misplaced; that each one no longer marked an honest mile of road, but that one might be reached by a few minutes' easy walk, and another did not appear after an hour's patient labor, we should at once distrust and cease to regard them. Or if our watches and clocks served us such tricks with regard to time, we should either have them regulated or condemn them as worthless. But when it comes to the more serious divisions of life and labor, we are content to have their signs point all inaccurately, and yet continue to put a good degree of faith in them.

Perhaps the most trustworthy of all these signals are those which mark the epochs in education. In a general way the classes which extend from the kindergarten up through our high schools, colleges, and professional or technical schools each represent a well-defined amount of valuable knowledge and mental discipline. Even here, however, there are mistakes, perhaps often unavoidable. Quick and superficial scholars will seem to outstrip more faithful ones; there is an occasional skipping of classes, which in the race of true progress can never occur, and the highest honors do not always fall to those best equipped for the journey of life. Still, it were well if all other signs of progress were as true in their indications as these. As we view the world we must acknowledge that its prizes and honors do not point out those whose merits and ability deserve them the most. There is a certain force and push of character, valuable in its own sphere, which, however, often carries its owner far out of his proper realm, and places him in positions for which he has but little fitness. There is far too much opportunity given for the development of this force, or rather for the misdirection of it. Rightly guided it would lead each man to strive manfully for that position which he could fill with most real success; but wildly grasping at supposed honors, it produces all sorts of confusion and failure. The hopes and ambitions that are held out so freely to youth are too material in their nature, too closely concerned with the so-called signs of progress, too little with real progress itself. That "every boy may be a President" is neither true doctrine nor does it offer a safe ambition. The restless longing to be something which we are not lies at the root of much of the inferior work of the world in every department. The child who is constantly aching to be a man cannot prepare for the best manhood. The youth who pines to exercise the authority which he spurns to obey is not fitting himself for the trust. The man who forgets his duties as a citizen in his anxious efforts to become some high official is not fit to occupy the post he covets. These prizes, so gained, will be false signs of a progress which has never taken place. For real progress is far more concerned with to-day's work than with to-morrow's honors—with present excellence than with future rewards. It consists in obedience, industry, patience, loyalty; it conserves all past knowledge and directs all endeavor to improve the present work, whatever it may be, leaving future changes to come as they will.

Hope and ambition are powerful and worthy motives when applied to the true advancement of ability, energy, faithfulness in daily duty, and success in lawful enterprise; but fixed merely on the high seats of the world they are unhealthful stimulants, which excite our powers only to scatter and dissipate them. It is the changes that must come to us as the natural results of past faithfulness which we may fairly prize, not those which we court and force before their time. It is like the gradual unfolding of the patient bud into the full blown beauty of the rose, compared with the condition of the flower which has been rudely torn open by a ruthless and impatient hand. One is obedience to natural law, patience, ease, grace and beauty; the other haste, force, disobedience, failure. No anxious effort of the caterpillar to become a chrysalis, or of the chrysalis to turn prematurely into a moth, will hasten the real changes which await it, and, as Mr. Ruskin well says: "Though it is the nobility of the highest creatures to look forward to and partly to understand the changes which are appointed for them, preparing for them beforehand, and even desiring them, and rejoicing in the hope of them, yet it is the strength of every creature, be it changeable or not, to rest for the time being, contented with the conditions of its existence, and striving only to bring about the change which it desires, by fulfilling to the uttermost the duties for which its present state is appointed and continued."—Ledger.

Dr. Johnson's Library.

An interesting library relic has just been unearthed by the Johnson Club, viz., an original copy of the sale catalogue of Dr. Johnson's library. The title page runs: "A catalogue of the valuable library of books of the late learned Samuel Johnson, Esq., LL.D., deceased, which will be sold by auction by Mr. Christie (by order of the executors), at the Grand Room in Pall Mall, on Wednesday, February 16, 1785, and three following days." The library consisted of 662 lots, and the sale occupied four days.—London Globe.

Novel Lynching Features.

The lynching of the Ruggles brothers at Redding, Cal., presents some novel features even to the careful observer of the methods of vigilantes. It is probably the first case on record in which the mob spent an hour and a half in opening the sheriff's safe to get the jail keys. Then, again, this was doubtless the first time on record that men were hoisted into the air by means of a crank. Add to this the silence of the avengers and we get a unique occurrence, such as it is to be hoped will not have a parallel again.

Prof. Edward Eggleston.

Edward Eggleston, the novelist, has just been appointed an associate professor at Columbia College, and will begin next fall a series of lectures upon colonial life and literature. Dr. Eggleston is also at work upon a new novel which will probably be completed early in the spring. A period of two years usually intervenes between the publication of Dr. Eggleston's novels, although it does not take him so long as that to write each one of his stories.

THE BEST FIVE.

British Columbia Architects to the Front in the Government Buildings Competition.

Mr. S. G. Curry, of Toronto, and Mr. A. F. Taylor, of Quebec, appointed by the Government to arrange and examine the plans for the new Government buildings to be erected across James Bay, have completed their work and reported to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works. The five most suitable plans were decided upon, the fortunate competitors being as follows:

No. 19—"Britannicus," F. M. Garden, Chicago, Ill.

No. 56—"B. C. Architect," F. M. Rattenbury, Vancouver, B.C.

No. 43—"St. George in Shield," J. Francis Brown, Toronto, Ont.

No. 25—"Utility and Dignity," James M. Corner, Boston, Mass.; W. P. Spillings, Seattle, Wash.

No. 17—"Utile Dulce," Thos C. Sorby, Victoria, B.C.

These five plans were selected out of 65 sets forwarded by 62 competitors.

The five competitors whose designs were chosen will now elaborate them for the final competition, which is to take place in about three months.

Two murder cases will occupy the time of the court at Nanaimo, viz.: Reg. vs. Jones, and Reg. vs. Leragnolo.

JUBILEE HOSPITAL DIRECTORS.

Meeting of the Board Last Night—Complaint of Long Hours by Nurses.

The Jubilee Hospital directors met last night. The nurses complained that their hours of duty were too long. They do 12 hours' daily duty, and 24 every six weeks, when there is a change from day to night work. The nurses were eight hour advocates. To carry the suggested change into effect three more nurses would have to be employed. The matter was left over till Mrs. McMillan, the new matron, arrives. The month committee were given charge of the communication.

The month committee were instructed to wait upon Mayor Beaven regarding the lowering of the Cadboro Bay road drain. This drain is a foot higher than the hospital drain, and the overflow runs into the hospital drain.

Dr. Richardson suggested that a steam disinfector be purchased. Two hundred dollars would buy one in Germany. Dr. Richardson charged gross negligence by medical men in cases of infectious diseases. He thought that an example should be made. The secretary was instructed to forward a copy of Dr. Richardson's report to the City Council.

It was decided to call for tenders for the morgue addition and the building of a separate building for physicians was discussed. A special meeting will be called upon that matter. A room in the hospital was set aside to be called the "King's Daughters' Ward." This ward will be fitted up by these young ladies. The Ladies' Auxiliary want a voice in the management. There was discussion, and then a week's hoist. It was decided to insert notices of deaths in the daily press. Adjournment at 11:15 p.m.

Wedded at Seattle.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Charles W. Hennigar, of Victoria, B. C., was united in marriage with Miss Eva B. Seeeles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sceeles, at the residence of the latter, on Crawford street, in Ballard. The Rev. E. P. Hyland, of Seattle, was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple left on Thursday for Victoria, where they will reside.—Sunday's Post-Intelligencer.

Mr. Brown's Experience Abroad.

Mr. Frederick T. Brown, of Wall street and the Union League club, was the only passenger on the last night train from Hamburg to Berlin. The running of night trains was stopped by the Berlin authorities. This particular train was brought to a standstill just outside the city, and the conductor, while assisting Mr. Brown to corral his hand luggage, was seized with cholera. Mr. Brown escaped into Berlin and the conductor was lugged back to Hamburg, where he and two members of his family died. Mr. Brown put himself under the charge of a physician and ultimately reached Carlsbad.

Mr. Brown says that the fishing in Carlsbad beats anything in this country. In the rear of every hotel or big restaurant is a large tank, in which swim scores of big, fat trout. Before breakfast the guest takes a look into the tank, and, selecting a fish to suit his appetite, jabs for it with a small scoop net which an attendant furnishes, and finally, having captured the fish, turns it over to the chef, who in fifteen minutes serves it broiled to perfection. The fish and the fun of catching it cost about twenty-seven cents in American money. It has been estimated by distinguished fishermen in the United States that every pound of brook trout, no matter where caught in this broad country, costs the sportsman one dollar. Mr. Brown thinks the Carlsbad system is a great improvement on the American method.—New York Sun.

Mr. Dickens' Shorthand.

In a paper on "Charles Dickens and Shorthand," by W. E. Axon, there are some interesting facts. It was Gurney's system that Dickens used—a system still, we believe, written by a number of reporters in the gallery of the house of commons. Gurney, who was born at Woburn, in 1705, came to London early in life, and was appointed shorthand writer at the Old Bailey. For a time he combined clock-making, designing for calico printing and reporting. Gurney's system was a modification of that of Mason's, and one of his earliest pupils was Erasmus Darwin.

Dickens' experience, Mr. Axon says, led him to set a high value on shorthand, and he taught it to his son, Mr. H. F. Dickens, Q. C., the present recorder of Deal. A scrap of shorthand notes, found among the novelist's papers, and which, it was hoped, might have thrown some light on the "Mystery of Edwin Drood," turned out on examination to be the heads of a speech suggested by the novelist to his son for a meeting of a cricket club, then in a drooping condition and in need of regeneration.

Of the thousands of sheets which Dickens must have covered with Gurney's characters there remain only two letters, of a page each, which deal with some private matters and which are now in the South Kensington museum. — Pall Mall Gazette.

The Time to Give a Tip.

"As I travel all the time," said a drummer at the Southern, "it is part of my business to study the subject of tips to dining room waiters. Of course tipping is all wrong, but a man doesn't want to starve, and you've got to tip or starve. Well, I think the best time to give the tip is when you give the order, especially when you happen to be a new arrival, unknown to the waiter. If the waiter knows you he may trust you to the end of the meal, but if he doesn't know you he may have doubts about your generosity and, unwilling to take any chances, may serve you very poorly.

"A quarter slipped into his hand when you give him your order has a fine effect on the character and composition of your dinner. You will notice that the waiter with the money in his pocket trots off a good deal more lively and comes back a good deal better laden than when he has to take your measure in his mind and live on hopes as to your willingness to tip. A realized quarter will do more than a doubted or even an expected half dollar in such cases."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Drinking from a Lady's Shoe.

A PANTHER'S STRENGTH.

Victorious Over a Quartet of Men in a Tug-of-War—A Surgical Operation.

Montreal Witness.]

Few people have any idea of the immense power that lies in a panther's foreleg. Half a dozen people saw an exhibition of it at Sohmen Park on Friday afternoon. They will remember the experience for many days to come.

Kate, the panther, for some weeks past had been suffering with an ingrowing nail on one of her front paws. As she began to walk a little lame the keeper decided to have the aspiring nail clipped. How to get Kate's paw out of the barred cage was a problem hard to solve. Finally the keeper got an idea.

After a brief tour through the grounds he appeared with a policeman, a park employee and a reporter of a French paper. The quartet after securing a rope about an inch thick started for Kate's cage. Now Kate on various occasions had resented the diplomatic efforts of her keeper to pay the needed attention to her foot; so when she spied him with three men making rapidly for her cage she suspected a plot of some kind and retreated with fierce growls to the back of her cage, where she sat with glaring eyes and gleaming teeth noticing with quick movements all the motions of her enemies.

The keeper's first move was to station his men. The limb of the law he made anchor man, the park man was put in front of him and finally the reporter was placed in front of all, being about two feet from the cage. One end of the rope was held by the trio, the other was tied into a slip knot and pushed by the keeper about two feet into Kate's cage. This having been accomplished, the keeper tried the persuasive powers of a long iron two-pronged fork administered to Kate's ribs.

With roars of rage the beast acknowledged the gentle intimation that she was desired to rise. As she dashed round and round the cage one of her paws caught in the noose. Before the tug-of-war team at the other end had time to pull the rope was severed by Kate's razor-like teeth.

A new rope was procured, which met a like fate. Patience always gets rewarded. Finally the desired paw was lassoed and drawn about an inch through the bars before the thoroughly roused animal was aware of it.

Now it was that Kate showed her remarkable strength. Like a flash she grabbed one of the strong iron bars with her remaining fore paw and then settling herself well on her haunches gave one tremendous pull with the imprisoned paw. The result was appalling. The team dragging on the rope were drawn with such violence against the cage that the bars fairly rattled. The reporter being first got the worst of the jam. Catching a glimpse of Kate's flaming eyes and massive throat, and being well nigh crushed to death at the time, he thought that his last hour had surely come and gave forth a mighty shout. He fell to the ground, however, before Kate could do him an injury. Besides being badly shaken he suffered no injuries. All three men said that when the beast gave the jerk they were pulling as hard as they could.

Finally more help was secured and Katie's nail was cut amid the most terrific roars.

Discovery of a Cave.

HARRISONBURG, Va., Nov. 8.—A cave was discovered about six miles east of Harrisonburg, in the village of Keesetown, yesterday evening. It has not been fully explored yet, but is said to rival the Luray caverns in size and beauty. It is on the land of Augustine Armentrout, and was discovered while blasting rock. Twenty-four rooms have been found without the aid of pick or shovel. Persons from the neighborhood were flocking to see it all day. Specimens of the stalactites were brought into town.

THE STEAMER PREMIER AFLOAT.

She Floats Off Bush Point at High Tide Yesterday Afternoon.

Four Men Do the Work that Competent Wreckers Were Quite Unable to Accomplish.

When the steamer City of Kingston passed Bush Point yesterday afternoon the steamer Premier, which had been beached there after the collision with the Willamette, was afloat, and steam was up in her boilers.

Two attempts had been made by expert wreckers to raise the Premier, but without success, and it was left to four men to float the steamer and put her engines in order. Grant Brothers attempted to raise the Premier by their new scheme but gave up the job and the contract was relet to a Tacoma wrecker. The latter built a bulkhead and stopped up all other apertures by which the water could enter the steamer. He then got his pumps to work, but the water gained on him and the steamer would not move. On Saturday he went to Tacoma to get more pumps, but when he returned on Monday his work had been done for him.

He had left four men in charge of the steamer. On Sunday night the tide was ususually low and thinking that it was a good chance to float the steamer the men went to work. They put the donkey engine, which had been under water, in order, and started it. They soon emptied all the water out of the steamer, and when the tide came up they took her off the beach without any difficulty. Not wishing, however, to take the steamer to port without orders they left the stern on the beach and ran a line from the steamer to the shore. She was in this position when the Kingston passed.

Captain John Irving went across the Sound after receiving the news, intending to bring the steamer over if he considered it safe.

A Proposed Amendment.

Ald. Hunter has given notice of his intention to ask leave to introduce a by-law to amend the local improvement by-law.

The Pernicious Habit of Taking Nips.

Whatever may be the opinion or judgment, based on experience or science, as to the value or the reverse of taking some form of alcohol with the meals, there is no doubt that the custom of taking wine or spirits or beer between meals and on an empty stomach—in one word the pernicious habit of "nipping" is highly injurious. The morning nip, between breakfast and the midday meal, so frequently taken by domestic servants, nurses, workpeople and "city men," renders the taker less fit for his daily work than he would otherwise be, and is often in women the first fatal step towards dram-drinking, and the shameful life of a woman-drunkard, of which we are hearing so much at the present time. The flushing of the face, caused by the dilatation of the small blood vessels, usually induced by alcohol when taken alone, is symptomatic of what takes place in the stomach. The direct action of alcohol on the mucous membrane is to produce temporary congestion or blushing of the internal surface of the stomach. This congestion ultimately becomes chronic if "nips" or "drams" of spirits are frequently indulged in, with the result that the mucous membrane becomes thickened and indurated, a quantity of tenacious mucus is secreted, the digestive ferment is paralyzed or destroyed, and alcoholic dyspepsia is established.—Hospital.
